Must-does for your programmes

Draw inspiration from our 6 themes, and prepare your one-day excursions and longer.

Relieve its past

A morning to visit the Mémorial de Caen for a comprehensive insight into the story of the Allied Landings in Normandy and their consequences. In the afternoon, take a heritage tour of the same beaches, as far as Pointe du Hoc, a symbol of the fierce combat waged in the name of freedom.

Delve into the emotion of the many sites of remembrance that commemorate these crucial pages in history: the Normandy American Cemetery and Memorial in Colleville-sur-Mer, the Arromanches 360 cinema, the Civilians in Wartime Memorial in Falaise, the British Memorial in Ver-sur-Mer, the Juno Beach Centre in Courseulles-sur-Mer, the Battle of Normandy Memorial in Bayeux, etc.

Taste its gastronomy

Destination the Graindorge cheese dairy in Livarot (south of Lisieux). You will learn the secrets of livarot and pont-l'évêque cheese making. Then head for the Pays d'Auge or Bessin, where a host of calvados distilleries await you to offer you an insight into all the facets of our Normandy apples. Calvados, cider, pommeau... are offered pride of place. And don't forget our oysters, scallops, 'andouille' chitterling sausage over a gourmet tour of our local producers, always delighted to share their age-old traditional skills.

Succumb to its castles

Calvados is the 3rd-ranking French area for the number of listed sites or listed historic monuments. There are around 1,000! You'll discover wonders such as the majestic castles of Bessin: don't miss the Château de Fontaine-Henry, boasting among the highest rooftops in France, or the splendid Château de Colombières surrounded by a genuine moat. And, in the Pays d'Auge, the striking Château de Saint-Germain-de-Livet is sure to enchant you! The list goes on: the very classical Domaine de Pontécoulant, in Swiss Normandy, the traditional Manoir des Evêques on the Côte Fleurie, the wonderful church of Sainte-Catherine in Honfleur...

Follow in the footsteps of its famous duke, William the Conqueror

Born around 1027 in Falaise, south of Caen, the Duke of Normandy who became King of England lived a fascinating life. Follow his trail through a tour of 3 emblematic towns: the morning is devoted to a discovery of his childhood castle in Falaise and of the famous tapestry that tells the story of his conquest of England, in Bayeux. Afternoon in Caen and tour of the castle and the two abbeys.

Stroll through the region's delightful parks and gardens

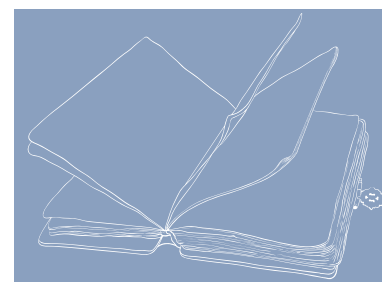

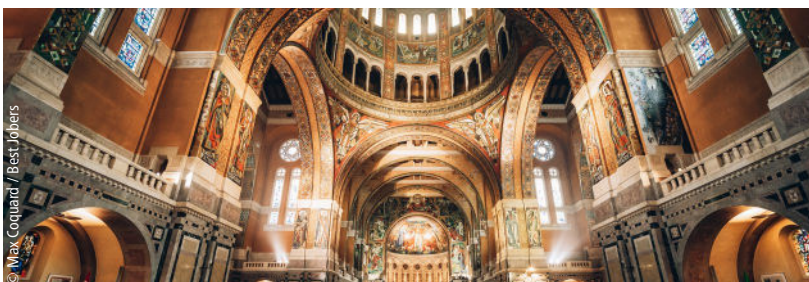

An ode to nature, over a day tour including several of the following sites. At Jardins du Pays d'Auge, in Cambremer, you'll be taken round a former nursery set out in 27 different features, while the Canon gardens demonstrate the transition between the ordered classicism of the French garden style and the irregular composition of the British style. The landscaped gardens of Vendeuvre castle are also interesting, with their contrasting atmospheres and themed layout. The gardens of the Château de Brécý, where perspective is the belle of the ball and the 4 increasingly wide terraces offer rhythm to the garden. The Colline aux Oiseaux in Caen, in turn, offers 17 hectares of floral parkland, the highlights of which are a vast rose garden and a multitude of themed gardens.

Take time to contemplate

The religious town of Lisieux is France's most important spiritual spot after Lourdes. A day devoted to the symbolic sites associated with the story of Saint Thérèse of Lisieux.

Visit the Lisieux Basilica and marvel at its jaw-dropping beauty; go and see the Carmelite nunnery and the Maison des Buissonnets, childhood home of Sainte-Thérèse of Lisieux, whose holy precepts are followed the world over. Further west in Calvados, you'll find another gem: the Notre-Dame de la Délivrande Basilica, in Douvres-La Délivrande.

You will find contact information and rates of the above visits on our website:

Tour guides

Questions for Coline Goret,
President of the Regional Federation of Guides in Normandy.

What is the Federation of Guides in Normandy?

'The Federation of Guides in Normandy is 30 years old. It is the only professional association of tour guides in the region. Over a hundred members guide you through Normandy's 5 departments and speak... 11 different languages!'

So what is a tour like with one of these guides?

'Genuine experts on their region, they share with their clients, be they individuals or groups, their love of Normandy, its history and its heritage. They take you not only on 'classical' tours, but also on innovative visits: storytelling tours, recreational, hikes, or even meditative, sophrology or sensory tours!'

You will find all the professional guides from the Federation of Guides in Normandy on

Unusual and unique!

Come and discover places that are all about originality!

Château de Fontaine-Henry

A lace-like setting

Discover this family château that's over 800 years old and listed as a Historic Monument. Enter the roof space to discover 'one of the highest roofs in France' with the owner, the Marquis d'Oilliamson. Family anecdotes and memories of the landing mark this visit through the furnished, decorated interiors dotted with works of art. Magnificently sculpted facade, almost like lace.

*Maximum of 20 people for the visit of the roofs - 15€ / person

Chapelle Saint-Vigor

A very unusual chapel!

Having fallen under the spell of this 13th-century chapel following a visit in 1987, Japanese artist Kuoji Takubo decided to turn it into a true work of art made of rainbow-coloured glass tiles, a steel floor and walls covered with lead sheet and an astonishing technique of painting in different colours... The cycle of apple trees is spread over all the walls of this incredible chapel.

*Open on request all year round

The miniature world in Clécy

A passion: the world in miniature

It's a unique adventure in Normandy, shared by the same family for over 50 years: one of the most fabulous miniature worlds ever built in Europe! Outside, a train lets you tour the site and see the lime kilns it contains. Inside, there's another train to discover in G-scale, the standard size for miniature models.

Skypark at la Soulevre

Take to the heights

Skypark Normandie at the Viaduc de la Soulevre offers you extraordinary experiences and real thrills. On site, lots of activities await you: bungee jumping, giant zip line (crossing the Soulevre valley over 400 m), giant swing (reaches a speed of 130 km/h in 3.5 seconds), pendulum rope jump (free fall, high-speed horizontal pendulum), suspended footbridge 61 m up and glass balcony.

The Happy Prison

A prison where inmates were free to roam

Built in 1823 by the architect Harou-Romain in a neoclassical style, this is an exceptional example of the prison world of the 19th century. It is above all the story of a guard who gave his prisoners a little too much freedom, until the incredible escape of René La Canne from the Tractions Avant Gang, in the 1950s.

In the footsteps of Orelsan

The rapper from Caen, a true phenomenon

Rapper Orelsan never misses an opportunity to pay tribute to his 'city of 100 bell towers'. From Cargö where he performed for the first time to the château where he shot a video clip, visit his iconic places, the spots where his films were shot and the moments mentioned in his songs for a guided tour of Caen like no other.

Château de Caen

A fortified complex in the city centre

It's the largest medieval complex in Europe! Founded around 1060 by William the Conqueror, Duke of Normandy, the castle has been remodelled over the centuries. By 2025, work will change it once again to create a 700 m<sup>2</sup> reception area and introduce 75% of green space over the 4 hectares of the site, which in particular houses the Fine Arts and Normandy museums. Another purpose of this work is to highlight the little-known remains of the keep, the rampart towers, the cells of the Saint-Pierre gate, etc.

Miniature furniture

in Vendevre

Miniatures from every angle

A curiosity: the world's first collection of miniature furniture collected by Elyane de Vendevre since her childhood! It contains masterpieces by journeymen with more than 830 pieces of period furniture to discover, presented in display cases along with tiny treasures, porcelain, silverware, ivories and clocks, etc. The château, inhabited by the family of the Count of Vendevre since its origin, is fully furnished and open for visits. Also worth seeing: the 'surprise' water gardens, elegant park, green rooms and shell cave.

La Délicate

A peaceful sounds walk

This is an amazing immersive experience: the 'La Délicate' sounds walk takes you to discover the Anglo-Norman villas of Lion-sur-Mer and Hermanville-sur-Mer. Equipped with your geo-located umbrella, stroll along the sea wall and adjacent alleys, and fall under the unique charm of these pretty seaside resorts. In Ouistreham, another walk invites you to share the experiences of those who lived through the Occupation and Landing here.

MILLÉNAIRE / 1025

2025 / NORMANDIE

A thousand years of Caen

An anniversary full of colour!

1,000 years after it first appeared in an official document, Caen is looking back to celebrate its journey so far! 2025 promises to be particularly significant, with lots of highlights throughout the year, major events open to all and significant artistic projects. A major milestone for the city, with its feet firmly anchored in history but its head turned to face its future.

Brand new!

Ornavik

Viking interpretation centre

The Ornavik historical park in Hérouville-Saint-Clair has been telling the story of the birth of Normandy since 2011. Year after year, it's continued to expand, and now includes a castle mound, the house of a Viking chief, a small Carolingian farm and more.

In 2026, Ornavik Park will open a Viking interpretation centre to present the epic tale of these warriors from the North. Permanent exhibition on Scandinavian, Carolingian and Norman cultures. Educational and meeting rooms, restaurant, all carried out under the banner of sustainable development.

The history of the boardwalk and pompeian baths of Deauville

Art déco style

New guided tour! In 2024, Deauville celebrated the 100th anniversary of its Boardwalk and Pompeian Baths, places for walking, socialising, games, encounters, events, etc. With its art deco cabins by architect Charles Adda, the Boardwalk, inaugurated in 1924, is still the most visited and photographed place in Deauville!

TaPIXle de Bayeux

The Tapestry in 3 dimensions

Maison Pixi has scored again! Famous for its creations of hand-painted lead figurines inspired by the world of comics, it's taken up the crazy challenge of depicting the entire Bayeux Tapestry... in three dimensions! The first ten metres of this unique creation will occupy the second floor of the Tapestry Museum until 18 May 2025. The work should be completed in 2027, for the Millennium of the birth of William the Conqueror.

Winston Churchill Centre

A tribute to the British liberators

You probably know the British Memorial in Ver-sur-Mer? This new centre completes the tribute paid to British soldiers. It has two exhibition galleries: one for those involved in the Battle of Normandy, the other showing the film by a Ukrainian artist who tells the story of the impact of the Landing and Battle of Normandy on an English family. The place also has an educational space open to schools, an inner courtyard and café shop.

La Mora

Reconstruction site

'La Mora' is the warship that Matilda of Flanders gave to her husband William the Conqueror, then Duke of Normandy. In Honfleur, a show site is now bringing to life the construction of this flagship that enabled the conquest of England. Experience this for yourself with the shipwrights. A 40-minute scenography to relive William the Conqueror's crossing to England in sound and light. Naturally, there are several scenes from the Bayeux Tapestry, including one where 'La Mora' appears.

A new addition to the 'Most beautiful villages in France'!

Pays d'Auge in the spotlight

Blangy-le-Château joins Beuvron-en-Auge in becoming the second town in Calvados awarded the 'Most Beautiful Villages in France' label. Half-timbered and brick houses add charm to this pretty destination surrounded by wooded hills, between Pont-l'Évêque and Lisieux. Also worth seeing: its washhouse, thatched cottages, old schools...

The 'Chaloupe'

Boat trip

The 58-passenger 'Chaloupe' departs from near the famous Pegasus Bridge. On the programme: sail along the canal from Caen to the sea, passing Château de Bénouville, the port terminal of Blainville and Château de Beaugard... A great way to learn more about the history of the canal, the city of Caen... and some of the main places of the D-Day landings, of course.

In western Calvados, the Bessin area boasts an international reputation – that of the thousands of soldiers who set foot on these lands after the D-Day Landings in 1944. Bayeux, the area's capital, has nevertheless preserved striking heritage over its twenty centuries of history, and can truly pride itself in its wild and romantic landscapes, its magnificent castles and thousand-year-old tapestry.

Caen, in the very heart of Calvados, the city of a thousand lives! The city that watched William the Conqueror grow up, a thousand years ago, and that also played a major role in restoring Peace in Europe as from 1944. The many vestiges of this eventful past now blend in perfect harmony with this lively and modern town that is full of surprises and is well worth a detour.

Cœur de Nacre

The Côte de Nacre coast stretches from the banks of the Orne to Courseulles-sur-Mer and you'll be spoilt for choice to find the whitest sandiest beach just for you. On June 1944, this sector, codenamed 'Sword' and 'Juno', saw the British, French and Canadian troops land on D-Day.

Falaise - Suisse Normande

Falaise without its castle is like the sea without the waves! And whilst William the Conqueror's birthplace and childhood home looms above the surrounding valley, it is not the only monument to cast its gaze over the medieval town. Nearby, in the town centre square, a striking statue of William also relentlessly admires the region's wild and verdant relief, there where he used to roam.

Honfleur, Terre d'estuaire

You'll have no trouble imagining Honfleur in the Middle Ages: this fine, 1,000 year-old city has preserved striking vestiges of its illustrious past. Its wooden church, with separate spire. Unique in France! Its marina, in the very heart of the town, lined with narrow and colourful terraced buildings. A marvel for photographers! One thing is sure: Honfleur is 'a harbour like no other'!

If there is one area that can truly pride itself in its preserved seafront and enchanting inland area, it is the land of Isigny-Omaha! From its famous D-Day Landing beach to the Cotentin and Bessin marshes or the Cerisy Forest, it is an area steeped in history and abounding with natural treasures, offering a preserved living environment, a host of outdoor pleasures and renowned quality country fare.

Lisieux Normandie

The Normandy of postcards reflects the idyllic landscapes of Pays d'Auge. Legions of blossoming apple trees adorn the land in springtime, and pour their nectar into our ciders and calvados. Quiet little paths criss-cross the countryside, along which you may suddenly come across a stud farm with racehorses of international renown. Finally, there is Lisieux, a famous pilgrimage site dedicated to the memory of Sainte Thérèse of Lisieux, where hundreds gather to pray.

Normandie Cabourg Pays d'Auge

This region, which extends to the east of the Orne estuary, always stands proud. It's home to one of the 'Most Beautiful Villages' in France, Beuvron-en-Auge, and dozens of preserved manors and villas in Houlgate and other towns in the region. It was also here, in Dives-sur-Mer, that William the Conqueror chose to send his fleet to conquer England... And on top of all this, there are fifteen kilometres of preserved coastline, from the wild Merville-Franceville to the cliffs of Vaches Noires.

Pays de Vire | Collines de Normandie

Enter Calvados' wild side, that of its hollow valleys and traditional know-how, passed on from generation to generation. In the southwesterly corner of Calvados, a natural playground for outdoor sports awaits you, some of the charms of which demand a little effort. Its gateway, Villers-Bocage, is steeped in history. Further south, Vire, the capital of the Normandy bocage, keeps watch over the surrounding area from its 13th century gate clock.

Suisse Normande

Its name is evocative of the green valleys and the vast natural decors that swathe this region, where the meanders of the Orne offer the panoramas all their splendour. It's no surprise that lovers of nature and the great outdoors have chosen the landscapes around Thury-Harcourt and Clécy to reunite their hiking, mountain biking, trail, via ferrata, paragliding and canoeing activities.

Terre d'Auge

Here, the river gently meanders, and all around legends are whispered through the ages: such is the essence of the Pays d'Auge that transpires through this mosaic-like land. On the banks of the sloping green pastures, authentic Beaumont-en-Auge is a fine example: its colourful half-timbered houses offer the village a timeless atmosphere. Visiting Pont-l'Évêque, is like travelling through a town from field to field, crossing bridges, strolling through gardens, following the river banks...

Territoire de Deauville

They call Deauville a high society destination. Yet, it is simply a resort that shines like the many stars it welcomes. From its seafront promenade (and its famous 'Planches' boardwalk), its immense sandy beach and the fine stylish establishments that run along its shores, one could almost forget that it is also one of the leading meeting places for horse lovers, offering an essential link between the seafront and the Pays d'Auge countryside.

Trouville-sur-Mer

The Belle Époque charm and narrow streets of Deauville's 'twin sister' seem to conceal some well-kept secret... And as you walk along its central avenue, amidst its many fine restaurants, you can admire the hundred-year-old casino in the distance, and the splendid Cures Marines hotel and spa that stands opposite the vast sandy beach, so popular among visitors who appreciate wide, open spaces.

Corporate seminars and events

Calvados is a wonderful region for hosting seminars and team-building activities, as well as all kinds of professional events. In all four corners of the region, from green reception venues to the grand hotels of Côte Fleurie, and from event agencies to activity providers, a whole armada meets your business needs.
